

BRIDGE COMPANY WINS FIRST ROUND

Judge Shackelford Holds That Fiscal Court Suits Is Improperly Set Out

The Clay's Ferry Bridge drew first blood Saturday morning in the suit filed in circuit court to prevent it collecting toll at the bridge over Kentucky river on the Lexington pike. Judge Shackelford sustained a special demurrer to the petition, upon the allegation of Attorneys A. R. Burnam and W. S. Moberley for the defendant, that the suit was improperly brought in the name of the Fiscal Court. The Judge indicated that if such a suit can be maintained, it must be brought by the County Attorney or such special attorneys as the Fiscal Court may wish to employ, on behalf of the Fiscal Court for the use and benefit of the taxpayers of the county of Madison. The petition as filed by Special Attorneys Murray Smith, John Noland, H. C. Rice, and County Attorney O. P. Jackson did not set forth in its title or opening paragraph that the suit was brought for the benefit of the taxpayers, but merely recited that the action was brought by the Fiscal Court, as such.

In his argument before the court, Judge Smith contended that the statutes placed the roads and bridges of the county under the control and supervision of the Fiscal Court and therefore it had the right to bring such a suit. Attorney Noland argued that the Fiscal Court acted merely in capacity of trustee of the roads and bridges for the people and taxpayers of the county and as such trustee, had a right to sue.

Attorneys on both sides had stacks of law books before them, and every opinion of any court bearing on the subject was quoted, either pro or con. Attorney Burnam took the position that if the Fiscal Court desired to sue, it is required to do so for the benefit of the taxpayers and must set forth that fact, which the petition as filed did not do.

Judge Shackelford held that this contention was correct. He indicated the procedure that must be followed in the case: that the Fiscal Court at a regular meeting may enter an order directing that suit be brought, if it desires, on behalf of the people of Madison county and for their benefit.

The Fiscal Court meets in regular session on Tuesday, Dec. 2d, and attorneys in the case representing the Fiscal Court said after the Judge's decision Saturday morning, that the procedure outlined would be followed to the letter. They said that the court has already entered the necessary order, and that all that would be required would be a redrafting of the style of the suit in the title or preamble. The suit will have to be filed again, however as a result of its being thus put out of court on this legal technicality.

MADISON FARM SELLS AT $806.50 AN ACRE

Sale Of Barnes Mill Pike Place
Believed To Have Broken
Local Land Records

Unless the chronicler is grievously mistaken, all records for the sale of Madison county farm lands were broken Friday when Real Estate Dealer L. P. Evans, of Richmond, sold a farm on the Barnes Mill pike at $806.50 an acre. The place is one which Bob Rowlett recently purchased from Mrs. Eugene Parrish. It lies about a mile from the city limits of Richmond and is splendid land. There are 15 1-2 acres.

The purchaser is Felix York, of Minnesota, who plans to make it his home, it is understood. Mr. York formerly lived in Jackson county, Kentucky, but moved to the northern state some time ago. He has not been satisfied there and desired to get back to Kentucky, so bought this attractive little home farm through Mr. Evans. The place has a nice seven-room frame house, with good barn and all outbuildings, and is well improved.

REDS' HUNGER STRIKE BROKEN ON ELLIS ISLAND

A Play With A "Kick"

"The Naughty Wife" was presented to a small crowd at the opera house last night. Richmond theatre-goers evidently do not care to pay city seat prices, regardless of the character of the show that is offered them. The comedy was rich and spicy. It is one of the "eternal triangle" plays with a "kick" to it and gave everyone who saw it something to think about. The Shannon Stock comes next week at popular prices and is said to have a repertoire of plays that will please all.

TOBACCO MARKET OPENS NEXT WEEK

Weed In Fine Shape And Is Pouring In For Opening Sales
Wednesday, Dec. 3

Tobacco is pouring into the two Richmond tobacco warehouses in preparation for the first sales of the season which begin next Wednesday, December 3. The Lexington market opens on Tuesday, the 2d, and after that the country markets start business. Both Richmond houses had the Lancaster warehouse will begin their sales on the same days.

The weather the past week has been ideal for handling tobacco. Growers are catching up with stripping, and getting ready for market as a result of the damp spell which has brought the weed crop splendidly "in case."

The two Richmond warehouses were never before so well equipped to handle the big crops that will go over their floors. Each house built a large addition during the summer and fall, and they can't come too fast for the houses here. The Richmond markets have always gotten the high dollar for their patrons and this season isn't going to be an exception to the rule. The big factories will all have their buyers here, and already the "pin-hookers" have started to work, so that growers are feeling pretty good over the prospects.

BOUGHT TOBACCO FROM 40C TO 50C

W. P. Kineaid, local buyer for J. P. Taylor Tobacco Company, went down in Lincoln this week and bought a couple of tobacco crops on special orders. He secured the crop of Middleton Lynn, east of Stanford, at 45 cents a pound. There were 6,000 pounds in the crop. He then bought the 30,000-pound crop of Jake A. Robinson, on the Buell and Lincoln border, at 50 cents a pound.

Mr. Kineaid says that he never saw crops so good in Lincoln county before, and he has been buying tobacco there for many years. He says that Ed Ballard, on the Lancaster pike, this side of Stanford, has the finest crop of tobacco he has seen in 10 years. It is real fancy weed, and will undoubtedly bring a fancy price. Mr. Ballard is a brother-in-law of Bob Sallee, who recently went to Louisiana from Richmond.

Madison county crops are beginning to sell around the figures mentioned above, also. Report comes that James L. Hise, of the Waco section, has sold his crop of 5,000 pounds to the local buying firm of Black & Co., at 46 cents a pound.

BAPTIST DRIVE IS ON TOMORROW

Excess of Quota By Richmond
First Church May Go To Oneida Institute

Sunday will be the biggest day among Baptists in all their history. There are 25,000 churches in the bounds of the Southern Baptist Convention with practically three million members and not one of these will be overlooked or neglected in the campaign for 75 millions of dollars for the various branches of denominational work.

Many evidences point to victory in this worthy cause but warning is given by the leaders of the campaign against "overconfidence, prayerlessness and inactivity". These have defeated many a worthy program. On the other hand people are urged to greatest diligence prayer and consecration that victory may be assured.

An effort is being made by director Rev. O. O. Green, of the First Baptist church and Mr. L. P. Evans, organizer, to reach not only all the members of the First church but Baptists who live in Richmond and hold membership elsewhere. Pledges will be taken from these as well as members of the church here and will be sent to the church where they belong unless it is the purpose of the individual to place their membership here.

The country churches throughout the county are vigorously pushing the campaign in their respective churches. The Calvary church, Richmond, has already gone beyond its quota having raised about $800, instead of $625 the amount they were asked to give. The Valley View church has raised nearly three times its quota. Republican, Waco, Kingston, Red House and Newby are all confident of victory. Kirksville is sure to come in with her part. Mt. Tabor at Paint Lick has already raised over $6,500 of their $10,000. This is fine for this splendid country church. All of the twenty-four churches of the Tate's Creek Association will reach their quotas and some will go beyond them.

The quota of the First Church, Richmond, is $7,500 and there is no doubt of their raising this fund and even more. It has been suggested that the amount above their quota be designated to Oneida Institute and the church will no doubt do this. The First Church was not apportioned so large an amount as it would have been because of the fact that they expect to raise a large amount of money in the near future for the erection of a new house of worship.

The program in all Baptist churches Sunday will be practically the same. At the Sunday School hour, 9:30 a. m., o'clock service the pastor will deliver a message in keeping with the great movement. At 2 o'clock the captains and their teams will meet at the church for prayer, conference, and final instructions and then proceed to the work of canvassing the membership. At 6:30 o'clock Sunday evening all the teams are expected to meet at the church and foot up the results of the campaign. Different churches will decide upon their own time. Then the results will be phoned to the District Organizer, Rev. C. S. Ellis, Paint Lick. He in turn will phone or wire the results to the State Organizer, Prof. John L. Hill, Louisville. Mr. Hill will wire the results to Dr. L. R. Scarborough, General Campaign Director, Nashville. Thus it is hoped that within a few hours reports from the twenty-five thousand Baptist churches of the South may be received. Leaders are confident that the amount will go far beyond the 75 millions. Some are so optimistic as to hope for 100 millions.

Worth a Fortune, Used By Kids to Cut Teeth On

(By Associated Press) Chicago, Nov. 29.—Gustave Gillman, a Chicago lapidary, was at work in his shop. John Mihok of Omaha entered. His appearance proclaimed the laborer. Reaching into his pocket, he drew out a rough, red stone and handed it to Gillman.

"I want you to cut and polish this," he said.

Gillman's eyes almost popped out of his head.

"Where did you get this?" he grasped.

"My father picked it up in Hungary fifty years ago," replied Mihok. "He thought it was a pretty pebble. When I landed in this country in 1903, I found it in my valise. I guess my mother had chucked it in. It has been lying around my house ever since. The children played with it. My last baby cut his teeth on it."

dropped up again. I came to see on it as my luck stone. One night I dreamed it was a diamond and worth a lot of money. But it's not a diamond,—it's red."

"No," said Gillman, "it's a pigeon's blood ruby."

"What might it be worth?" asked Mihok.

"I'd say anywhere from $100,000 to $250,000," answered Gillman and Mihok leaned against the door.

The big rough stone cut to a flawless ruby of 23 9-10 carats. It is believed to be the largest ruby in this country and possibly the largest in the world.

John Mihok has been laborer all his life. Michael Mihok, his father, was a laborer before him. For fifty years, father and son toiled to keep the wolf from the door and all the while they have had in their careless possession a gem that an emperor might have coveted.

A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years' Suffering. Says Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work."

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all, and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui.

Nothing relieved me until I took Cardui. It did wonders for me."

Try Cardui for your troubles—made from medicinal ingredients recommended in medical books as being of benefit in female troubles, and 40 years of use has proven that the books are right. Begin taking Cardui today.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 28.—November 21, 65 years ago, the city council decided to bring the English sparrow to Louisville to rid the trees and bushes of a destructive caterpillar. Now, according to the Courier Journal, Louisville has a sparrow population reckoned equal to the human population.

"Sixty five years ago," said the Courier Journal, "the trees of the city were being destroyed by a caterpillar. Something had to be done and several councilmen communicated with other cities. From Boston came word that England had sent a remedy in a small gray bird and that fifty pairs could be purchased for $100. The purchase was made after heated discussion."

"Never an opinion was expressed then that probably the remedy would be worse than the disease and that the city would have to eventually reckon on saving the municipality from the English bird."

Trying To Get Out Coal In Kentucky Mountains

In order to get out coal trains over the single track road from Winchester to Beattyville and on into the mountains, six passenger trains have been taken off that line. Happy Jack Squirrel Moves

By Thornton W. Bruges.

Happy Jack Squirrel was moving. It wasn't that he wanted to move. Goodness, no! Moving is bad enough at any season, but to have to do it right in the middle of the harvest season is enough to drive almost any right-minded thrifty squirrel almost crazy, and Happy Jack is nothing if not thrifty. He just had to do it because, as he explained to Peter Rabbit, if he didn't he never would know another minute of peace.

"You know, Peter," said Happy Jack, "I believe in thrift."

Peter wriggled his wobbly little nose a bit scornfully. "If I don't know it it isn't because I haven't had it ever—lastingly preached to me," said he. Happy Jack took no notice of Peter's scorn. "Yes, sir, I believe in thrift," he continued. "The truly thrifty person is the one who will get on fastest and farthest in life. Think it over, Peter. So it was because I am truly thrifty that I had to drop everything else and move right now in the middle of my busy season. I couldn't afford to risk losing what I've already got just for the sake of adding a little to it. Do you think I could, Peter?"

Peter Rabbit scratched one long ear with a long hindfoot, then the other long ear with the other long hindfoot, and looked puzzled. "I don't know what you're talking about, but if you say it's so I guess so it is," said he.

"Of course it is," retorted Happy Jack. "You know I've been living in the attic of that house over there." He pointed to a house Peter could just see through the trees.

Peter looked at the house, then looked at Happy Jack. "You may be able to stuff a lot down me, but you can't make me swallow that house," said he.

"Why men live in that house!" "Of course they do," replied Happy Jack, with a chuckle. "But I've been living there, too. Do you see that limb of a tree just touching the roof of that house?"

Peter nodded. "Well, one day," continued Happy Jack, "I ran out on that limb and on the roof. Then I discovered a place where I could gnaw a hole, and I did it."

"What for?" demanded Peter. "To find out what was inside," replied Happy Jack. "When I got it big enough to crawl through I got into the attic and it was the most wonderful place. There was the greatest lot of stuff up there you ever saw, piles of old papers, old clothes, old furniture, boxes—goodness, I couldn't begin to tell you of all the stuff in that attic. I didn't take me long to find out that it was ever came up there excepting once in a great while to put some more stuff there."

"So I made a nest in a box, a nest of paper which I tore up and old rags, and decided to live there. It was the most comfortable home I've ever had, and I was looking forward to spending the winter there. It was a wonderful place to live. It certainly was," Happy Jack said this very wistfully.

"Then why don't you stay there?" demanded Peter. "Because I've just discovered it isn't safe," declared Happy Jack. "No, sir, it isn't safe, and safety is the first law of life, as you very well know."

Again Peter nodded, and Happy Jack continued: "One night I was awakened by some one in the attic. It was a boy and he was looking for something with a lighted match. It burned close to his fingers and then he dropped it. It fell on a piece of old paper and it blazed right up. That boy was quick. I'll say that much for him. He stamped that fire out quicker than a wink. Then he went off down stairs."

"The rest of that night I didn't sleep much. I kept thinking supposing that match had dropped in one of the big piles of paper and he hadn't been able to stamp it out. The Red Terror would have just raced through that stuff and that whole house would have been afire in no time. So I decided to move. I couldn't afford to lose my winter supply of nuts stored there, to say nothing of running the risk of being burned to death because of somebody's carelessness. Besides, I made up my mind that I had been living with thrifless people. No one truly thrifty would ever have allowed such a mass of old stuff to collect. They would have sold it for Thrift Stamps and so got some good from it. You know, Peter there isn't anything that can't be made use of in some way."

"I can't stand thriflessness. That in itself is bad enough, but thrifless people are also apt to be careless. So I'm moving to a hollow tree. Now I feel rested and must get to work again and save the rest of my winter supplies before the Red Terror burns up that house. I feel it in my bones that that is going to happen some day. Good-by, Peter."

Happy Jack scampered away in the direction of the house where he had been living and where the thrifless, careless people lived. Then Peter turned towards the dear old briar patch. "It certainly is funny," said he to himself as he hopped along, "how thrifless some people are and don't know it, and what a lot of different kinds of thriflessness there are."

STANLEY CONCERT OF MUCH INTEREST HERE

Rarely has an opera star of long experience in a wide range of roles in this company and abroad in leading opera companies deliberately put aside for a time an operatic position of unequivocal success for the sole purpose of developing exclusively the intellectual side of art, as did Mme. Helen Stanley, who will appear at the Lexington Opera House for the second concert of the Artist Concert Series, December 3.

Madam Stanley has demonstrated amazing versatility and has quickly achieved a position second to none in this higher form and realm of vocal art. It is said that not since the time of Madam Nordica's greatest triumphs has a New York audience revealed such intense love for an American singer, as was the case in the two recent recitals by Madam Stanley, given at the Hippodrome and at Carnegie Hall ten days later, both concerts to capacity houses. The cloak of that great queen of song fits well on the shoulders of this distinguished artist.

Madam Stanley will appear on the program jointly with Elmer Zoller, one of the leading soloists and accompanists on the concert stage today. Seats for the Stanley-Zoller concert will go on sale at the Ben-Ali Theatre, November 28.

Richmond and all central Kentucky towns are anticipating a musical feast in the concert to be given next Wednesday at the Lexington opera house under the auspices of the Lexington College of Music, Miss Anna Chandler Goff director. This movement not only tends to uplift and elevate the taste of the public for the highest in art, but is a vital factor in promoting the best interests of music in the state. The leaders that means progress in life, should accept it as an educational force and urge the patronage of the public and music lovers who know and recognize the highest form of tonal art should welcome these concerts as a gracious opportunity.

High Army Officers.

A major general heads each army corps; a brigadier general heads infantry brigade; a colonel heads each regiment; a lieutenant colonel is next in rank below a colonel; a major heads a battalion; a captain heads a company; a lieutenant heads a platoon; a sergeant is next below a lieutenant, and a corporal is a squad officer.

Nary a Blush.

Said the facetious feller: "Strange as it may seem, there is no blush following financial embarrassment."

One-eighth of the entire cost of the war was borne by the United States.

Lake With No Outlet. Lake Chad, in the heart of East Africa, has no known outlet for the many rivers pouring into it. Its waters rise and fall with great rapidity. Shark-Food.
In Bermuda small ground sharks are used for food and much appreciated by all classes. The fish average from eight to ten pounds and sell for 12 cents each. In Honolulu the hammerhead shark is frequently seen in the markets and its flesh is considered very nourishing and is extensively salted.

Look Decent.
Bobby's father was a photographer, and the little fellow had often seen him take pictures and heard him admonish the people to "Look pleasant, please." One day he obtained a small, worn-out camera and pretended to take his little playmate's picture. Getting her to stand for a snapshot, he directed: "Now, Hazel, stand still and look decent, please."

Gov. elect Ed Morrow is reported to have left Kentucky for a short vacation from office seekers. His friends say that applicants for jobs under the new administration were making life a burden for him, and they made him go away for a rest before inauguration. Lieut. Gov. Thurston Ballard says he's having the same experience. He told the Rotary Club of Louisville, that his pre-election campaign was tame to what he is up against now, and he has no patronage to dispense either. This thing of being a candidate or an office holder is really about the hardest work that a man can do. We have often contended that any man who goes out and makes a couple of races and wins a political office, usually earns all the salary he gets before he takes office.

BETTER PROVISION PROMISED PASTORS

BAPTIST 75 MILLION CAMPAIGN WILL RAISE BIG SUM FOR RETIRED MINISTERS.

CARE FOR THE WIDOWS, TOO

Total of $5,000,000 Included On Program For This Purpose—Insurance Features Also Included.

REV. J. M. RUSSELL
Typical Retired Minister.

While the salaries paid the ministers of Baptist, as well as other churches in the South, has been far too small in the past to enable them to lay aside a competency for old age, a long step in remedying this situation is promised in the Baptist 75 Million Campaign, which proposes to raise $2,500,000 for the relief of aged ministers during the next five years, and then bring this sum up to $5,000,000 during the two years immediately following the campaign.

Looking to the adequate care of hundreds of aged Baptist ministers and ministers' widows in the ranks of the Southern Baptist Convention who are now in need of financial assistance, this body, at a recent session, authorized the creation of the Relief and Annuity Board at Dallas, Texas, with Dr. William Lunsford as corresponding secretary.

Heretofore the average annual salary of Baptist ministers in the South has been less than $500, meaning that a large number of preachers received considerably less than that sum, making it necessary that they engage in other occupations during the week in order to support themselves and their families, and rendering it practically impossible for them to lay aside any money as a support for their old age.

The establishment of the Relief and Annuity Board and the decision to raise $5,000,000 during the next seven years for the relief of the aged ministers already in need of assistance and the more adequate care of the men who hereafter give their lives to the Christian ministry without an opportunity to save up a competency to tide them through sickness or care for them in their declining days, has met with a cordial reception at the hands of Southern Baptists, and it is believed the provision of better treatment for the ministers in their retirement will not only tend to cause young men to look with greater favor upon the ministry as a life work, but will bring the members of local congregations generally to see the need of paying pastors more adequate salaries before these pastors become old and helpless.

By the addition of an annuity feature it is possible for retired ministers to receive an annuity of $500 after they have reached the age of 65, and provided they have been in the ministry for thirty years. If they have served less than 30 years the annuity is reduced by a certain proportion.
To participate in this annuity a minister must make monthly, quarterly or annual payments sufficient to bring in an income of $100 per year when invested on the principle of regular life insurance, while this is supplemented by $400 provided by the denomination.
A minister's participation in the annuity fund is in addition to his claims upon the relief fund.

If the minister is disabled at any time after joining the annuity fund, he will receive a certain annuity throughout the period of disability. If he dies his widow will receive an annuity of $60 per year. If the minister has gone to his home and is unable to work, and his wife is unable to work, the annuity will be divided equally between the minister and his wife, and if the wife is unable to work, the annuity will be paid to her alone.

The board has received an endowment of $100,000 from the Baptist Sunday School Board of Nashville not included in the 75 Million Campaign, and this sum will be divided equally between the relief and annuity departments. This enables the board to begin work immediately. The board is already being given to 255 aged ministers and ministers' widows.

With Three-Point Cantilever Springs New Overland 4 Seems to "Sail Over The Roads"

THE new Three-Point Cantilever Springs of Overland 4, by their special construction and design, protect car and passengers from ordinary road jolts. Bump-ing, twisting, swaying and vibrating are dency to bodily fatigue after long rides.

The springs of Overland 4 attached at the ends of a 130-inch Springbase give the riding comfort and road steadiness heretofore possible only with cars of long wheel-the light weight and economy advantages of 100-inch wheelbase.

Three-Point Cantilever Springs protect the car from the hammering and wear of road blows. They lengthen its life and reduce

YIELD FABULOUS RETURNS SCARCE

OIL, A NECESSITY, OFFERS FIELD FOR UNSCRUPULOUS PERSONS TO UNLOAD WORTHLESS STOCKS.

PUBLIC IS EASILY "GULLED"

Company With Four Billion Capital and $37.50 Working Capital Proved Attractive Years Ago.

After every war in which the United States has participated, the people of the country have lined up waiting for opportunity to plunge into the current of inconsiderate speculation. All that was necessary was an assurance that "the water's fine" to send them in.

The majority never again got their financial heads above the surface. Hundreds of millions of dollars have been lost in these unwise ventures in the past and millions are being lost to investors in the present craze for stock gambling.

It apparently makes little difference that these speculations may be based on industries which have been proved profitable and legitimate. The production of oil is one of the basic industrial operations, yet more fortunes have been lost in oil stocks and oil lands than in any other speculation. Crude petroleum is a necessity, it commands a staple price, its production is a legitimate business, yet investors in oil stock risk more dangers than beset Livingston in Africa.

The first oil boom occurred in the early '60's, just after Edwin L. Drake and his driller "Uncle Billy" Smith brought in the first drilled well in Pennsylvania. With the news of Drake's success, people from all over the nation flocked to Cenango county in the hope of "striking oil" and making a fortune over night.

Land in favorable localities sold readily for from $6,000 to $7,000 an acre and farms brought from $500,000 to $1,000,000 each. Speculation of every possible sort among all classes went on to such an unbridled extent that it amounted to sheer madness. A plot of two acres sold for half a million, and $4,000,000 was refused for 50 acres, which had been traded for a yoke of oxen less than a year before. Hundreds of wells were put down, but their owners, without adequate capital or equipment, saw their means vanish and poverty approach as a result of the unscrupulous and merciless dealings of the land speculators.

Then came the first of the gushers. In a year, oil was almost as cheap as water and prices almost ceased to exist, sales being made as low as 10 cents a barrel. More fortunes were lost, but demand was gradually stimulated and prices increased until the close of the Civil War, the country was ripe for another stampede.

The rush to the Pithole region followed and with that rush came the extensive operation of so-called stock companies. In these companies, people from all over the country were fleeced of their earnings and speculation in such shares was tremendous. It is estimated that the companies in Pennsylvania alone at this period had a combined capital issue of over $600,000,000.

Then the bubble burst again. Floods and fires swept the fields. Production was not maintained and the wild cat companies toppled over right and left like a row of bricks, carrying down to ruin thousands who had invested their entire capital.

Drake, the inventor of modern drilling methods, who knew oil as few men knew it, was among them. He lost all his property in speculation and his family was reduced to actual want. His former associates made up a purse to relieve his necessities. Subsequently the state granted him a pension of $1,500 a year for the services he had rendered the country.

This nation is facing a similar era of speculation at present. The methods of fraudulent promoters in selling stock have been somewhat refined, but the dangers of get-rich-quick investments are not less than after the Civil War.

Repeated proof of the dangers of stock speculation has been given. The most secure protection against the lure of such investments is careful and conscientious saving and regular, safe and secure investment in government securities: War Savings Stamps, Treasury Savings Certificates and Liberty Bonds. They do not guarantee "dividends semi-daily except Sunday," but they do guarantee security against loss, coupled with sure profit.

Treasury Savings Certificates and Savings Stamps have the advantage of always being cashable for more than was paid for them.

Liberty Bonds, at present prices, offer an investment opportunity that will not be equalled again, probably, in this generation. Financial authorities unite in predicting that all issues will sell above par as two are now selling.

HOMELY, BUT TRUE.

There is more than the method of the day that betrays the home he can't see. It is the quality of the home, the industry and prosperity.

BIG EXPOSITION ON AT CHICAGO

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Nov. 29.—Blue, blooded horses, prize winning cattle, sheep, lambs and hogs, were on show today when the doors of the Union Stock Yards Amphitheatre were opened for the twentieth annual international Live Stock Exposition. The show will continue to Dec. 6.

The "Fat Stock Show" as the International has become popularly known, gives promise of being the greatest show ever held, both in regard to the number of entries and in attendance. About nine thousand animals are on exhibition, about 800 more than ever exhibited here at previous shows. This is a new record. Almost every section of the country is represented. Entries are on hand from number of agricultural colleges, including Ohio state, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa State, Penn state, Kentucky, California and Purdue, twice winner of the grand championship. A majority of the colleges of the country have entered stock in the various divisions.

Each afternoon during the show the cattle and horses will be judged and at night there will be a parade of the winners.

The annual horse show, which always is an interesting feature will be held nightly in the large arena. This year a number of horses from leading stables of the country have been nominated and it is predicted that the exhibition will be the greatest ever held.

In addition to the Live Stock Show, the International Hay and Grain show is being held. Ten thousand dollars in prize money, given by the Chicago Board of Trade, will be competed for some of the leading corn growers of the country.

250 Acres Finchville Land

The very best land in Shelby county, located right in the heart of the famous Finchville neighborhood. The place where land has been more active than any part of Shelby county and where now you can hardly get a price on a farm.

We are selling for Mr. C. L. Walters, his grand farm which he recently purchased from the Smith heirs, consisting of 250 acres of as good land as there is in the state at

PUBLIC AUCTION

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1919

at 1 p. m. on the farm which lies just three miles from Finchville, on the Finchville and Clark Station pike, 10 miles from Shelbyville and two miles from Southern Railway. We have looked over lots of farms over the state but crops are better on this farm than you will find on land that sells for $300 to $400 per acre

WE HAVE CUT THIS ESTATE INTO 2 FARMS EXCELLENT LAND

FINCHVILLE is the garden spot of Shelby county. The old Smith homestead is well known as one of the very best farms in this section of the county. This is your opportunity to buy a farm that has never been on the market before, one that has been treated right, has been used as a stock farm for years and very little tobacco raised on it. It is seldom that such a good farm is put on the market at the high dollar and we were able to get this one to sell only on account of a division being made by the Smith heirs. It is bound to be a good one, just think of the neighbors. The Cravens place is on one side, the old Hornsby place is on one side and Ernest Tucker on the other. Ask any of them what they will take for their farms. This one is just as good.

FARM NO. 1 150 ACRES

The old home place, a nice brick home of seven rooms, good tobacco barn, big stock barn, crib and all necessary outbuildings in good repair. Plenty of water, lots of bluegrass and practically this whole farm ready for cultivation. The crops are now in the cribs and barns and will show what this farm will do in a dry year.

FARM NO. 2 100 ACRES

A small tenant house and every foot good land, some of this is still in virgin timber. Look at the corn crop on this place, then see the rest of the land which is just as good. You have plenty of good tobacco land. How can you help buying it?

WE SELL absolutely without reserve or by-bid. You set the price, we take it. Get in the game just think of the fortunes that have been made in farms. Have you made yours? This is as good an opportunity as any one ever had to buy a GOOD farm at your own price. Get in and make yours.

Terms easy. Will be made known on day of sale. If your desire to inspect the farm before day of sale you will find someone at the farm to show you over or we will be glad to take you from our office in Shelbyville.
